

Dartmoor: Select South West Tours

Dartmoor is one of the great wilderness areas of England, littered with pretty villages and breathtaking scenery. The wild landscape of Dartmoor has been the stuff of legends for centuries, and was the inspiration behind Conan Doyle's epic Sherlock Homes story 'The Hound of the Baskervilles'.

You will see the Dartmoor ponies and the towering granite outcrops known as Tors, and also go to Postbridge to see the ancient clapper bridge. The tour will then head to Princetown, location of Dartmoor Prison, and hear the tales about some of the more notorious inmates and their daring escapes.

You will see the remains of a bronze-aged village, dating back more than 3,500 years.

The tour will finish in the ancient market town of Tavistock with its national award-winning Pannier Market.
